Schedule A - Risk Related to CMP Mining Inc. Business

The Issuer is in the mineral exploration and development business and is exposed to a number of operational, financial, regulatory, and other risks and uncertainties that are typical in the natural resource industry and common to other companies in the exploration and development stage. These risks may not be the only risks faced by the Issuer. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known by the Issuer or which are presently considered immaterial could adversely impact the Issuer's business, results of operations and financial performance in future periods.

Limited Operating History

The Issuer has not yet commenced operations, and therefore, has no history of earnings or of a return on investment, and there is no assurance that our asset will generate earnings, operate profitably or provide a return on investment in the future. The likelihood of success of the Issuer must also be considered in light of the expenses, difficulties, complications and delays frequently encountered in connection with the establishment of any business. The Issuer's proposed business strategies incorporate management's best analysis of potential markets, opportunities and difficulties that it may face. No assurance can be given that the underlying assumptions will be achieved.

Disclosure Controls and Internal Control Financial Reporting

Disclosure controls and procedures are designed to provide reasonable assurance that material information is gathered and reported to senior management, including the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate to permit timely decisions regarding public disclosure.

The Issuer's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting. Any system of internal control over financial reporting, no matter how well designed, has inherent limitations. Therefore, even those systems determined to be effective can provide only reasonable assurance with respect to financial statement preparation and presentation.

The Canadian Securities Administrators do not require any certification on the effectiveness of these controls at this time.

Government Laws, Regulations and Permitting

Mining and exploration activities of the Issuer are subject to applicable laws and regulations governing prospecting, development, production, taxes, labour standards, occupational health, mine safety, waste disposal, toxic substances, the environment and other matters. The operations of the Issuer will require licenses and permits from various governmental authorities to carry out exploration and development at its project. There can be no assurance that the Issuer will be able to obtain the necessary licenses and permits on acceptable terms, in a timely manner or at all. Any failure to comply with permits and applicable laws and regulations, even if inadvertent, could result in the interruption or closure of operations, or material fines, penalties or other liabilities.

Additional Financings

The Issuer expects to be substantially dependent upon the equity capital markets to pursue additional investments. There can be no assurance that such financing will be available to the Issuer on acceptable terms or at all.

Additional equity financings may significantly dilute shareholders. If the Issuer is not able to obtain such financing, it may not be able to expand its portfolio of assets and may not be able to execute on its business strategy.

There is no assurance that the Issuer will be successful in raising sufficient funds to meet its obligations or to complete proposed exploration programs or acquisitions. If the Issuer does not raise the necessary capital to meet its obligations under current contractual obligations, the Issuer may have to forfeit its interest in properties or prospects earned or assumed under such contracts.

Key Management and Competition

The success of the Issuer will be largely dependent upon the performance of its key officers, consultants and, as applicable, employees. Locating mineral deposits depends on a number of factors, not the least of which is the technical skill of the exploration personnel involved. Failure to retain key individuals or to attract or retain additional key individuals with necessary skills could have a materially adverse impact upon the Issuer's success.

While consulting and/or employment agreements are customarily used as a primary method of retaining the services of key consultants or employees, these agreements cannot assure the continued services of such individuals. Any loss of the services of such individuals could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's business, operating results or financial condition.

Commodity Prices

Mineral prices fluctuate widely and are affected by numerous factors beyond the control of the Issuer. The prices of mineral commodities have fluctuated widely in recent years. Current and future price declines could cause commercial production, if any, to be impracticable.

Conflicts of Interest

The Issuer's directors and officers may serve as directors or officers of other companies or have significant shareholdings in other resource companies and, to the extent that such other companies may participate in ventures in which the Issuer may participate, the directors of the Issuer may have a conflict of interest in negotiating and concluding terms respecting the extent of such participation. In the event that such a conflict of interest arises at a meeting of the Issuer's directors, a director who has such a conflict will abstain from voting for or against the approval of such participation or such terms. In accordance with the laws of British Columbia, the directors of the Issuer are required to act honestly, in good faith and in the best interests of the Issuer. In determining whether the Issuer will participate in a particular program and the interest therein to be acquired by it, the directors will primarily consider the degree of risk to which the Issuer may be exposed and its financial position at that time.

The Issuer will be Reliant on Third Party Reporting

The Issuer relies, and will rely, on public disclosure and other information regarding the properties in which it has an interest that it receives from the owners, operators and independent experts of such operations. Such information is necessarily imprecise as it depends upon the judgment of the individuals who operate the properties, as well as those who review and assess the geological and engineering information. In addition, the Issuer must rely on the accuracy and timeliness of the public disclosure and other information it receives from the owners and operators of the properties, and uses such information in its analyses, forecasts and assessments relating to its own business and to prepare its disclosure. If the information provided by such third parties to the Issuer contains material inaccuracies or omissions, the Issuer's disclosure may be inaccurate and its ability to accurately forecast or achieve its stated objectives may be materially impaired, which may have a material adverse effect on the Issuer.
